ACQUITTAL OF MRS. LAURA D. FAIR.

The Indian Prisoners—Satanita and Big Tree.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30. The jury in the case of Mrs. Fair, on her second trial for the murder of Col. Crittenden, this morning rendered a verdict of not guilty.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—In reply to a letter from the President of the Young Men's Liberal Republican Association August Belmont writes declining the use of his name as a candidate for mayor.

The funeral services of the late Rev. Dr. Vinton will take place in Trinity Church on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30.—Satanita, chief of the Kiowa Indians and Big Tree, another notable chief of some tribe who have been temporarily released from Texas prison arrived here to-day in custody and were taken to the Everett House, where the other Indians were stopping. During the day a council was held. The meeting of Satanita and Big Tree was one of the most affecting scenes in the Indian history. The ordinary stoicism gave entirely away and they hugged and kissed each other and cried like children. Satanita made a speech, in which he said that he felt like one risen from the dead. He referred to the talk he had had with Gov. Davis, of Texas, who told him he must work hard for peace and influence his people, and if he did this he should be released. He wanted his people and all other Indians to be at peace with the whites, to let Texas alone and not go on the war path. It is not intended to take Satanita and Big Tree to Washington, but they will probably be placed in custody by the United States Marshal to-morrow and held subject to orders from Washington. There is a strong desire on the part of the Indians that Satanita be pardoned and it is probable that if he is almost any desired terms can be made with them.

TITUSVILLE, Sept. 30.—At the final meeting of the oil producers it was resolved to stop pumping for thirty days. All the districts were represented and the feeling was unanimous.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Sept. 30.—The first grand annual meeting of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Association of North Carolina, will open Tuesday, October 23d, at Goldsboro, N. C., continuing four days. Grand preparations have been made. The grounds are in splendid order. An invitation is extended to the world. Hon. Horace Greeley, of New York, will be present on Wednesday and Thursday, the 25th and 26th. Gov. Walker, of Virginia, delivers the address on Thursday, the 26th.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Sept. 30.—The first through train on the new road from Louisville to Montgomery reached here to-day. Through trains will now regularly run between the two cities.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Oregon elected Mitchell, Republican to the United States Senate. Mitchell is a native of Oregon.

The acting commissioner of Internal Revenue, in view of the ambiguity of a portion of section seventeen of the act of June 6, 1872, imposing a special tax on dealers in malt liquors, and in view of the supposed intention of Congress, has decided that wholesale and retail liquor dealers may continue to sell malt liquors, without their special tax receipts as such, without being assessed as malt liquor dealers, and that the collection of taxes assessed contrary to that construction shall be suspended until the question can be brought before Congress. Persons who sell only malt liquors are liable only to the special taxes of twenty or fifty dollars as they are wholesale or retail dealers in malt liquors.

The acting commissioner of Internal Revenue decides that on and after October 1st, 1872, no stamps will be required upon checks, drafts, and orders except such as are drawn on sight or on demand upon banks, brokers and trust companies. He also decides that on and after that date no stamps are necessary upon foreign bills of exchange.

EMIGRATION MEETING IN LONDON.

THE Nominations of Victor Hugo, PARIS, Sept. 30.—Victor Hugo has been nominated by the Republicans of Algiers for a member of the French Assembly.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—A meeting of the railroad servants, was held in Hyde Park yesterday afternoon to take into consideration measures for furthering the movement which has been inaugurated for emigrating large numbers of this class to Canada and the United States.

The ship Nazarine was wrecked off Forbury, Lancashire, on the 27th inst. and on board were drowned. Many reports of other disasters of loss of a severe character than that of the Nazarine have been received.

Republican Success in Nashville.

We congratulate our friend Hon. Thos. A. Kercheval, upon his election as Mayor of Nashville. He defeated K. J. Morris, who has held the position two years, by seventy-six votes. The Banner speaking of it says:

The colored people grew very jubilant last evening, and turned out with life and drum and took possession of the newly elected Mayor, shortly after it became apparent that the return of the Fourth Ward would place him ahead of Mayor Morris. In a brief speech he said he held that he was not elected by any party, but by the masses of the people, who choose him as their Mayor in preference to an aristocrat who had had the office repeatedly. He said that, while serving through his term, he would endeavor to further the interests of this city.

The Union and American says:

The municipal election yesterday resulted in a Radical triumph, the election of a Radical Mayor by a handsome majority. This too upon a reasonably full vote; a larger vote than was cast last year. The "independent" policy was pursued; "every man for himself and the devil take the hindmost." The result: a Radical triumph here in the city of Nashville, the capital of the State, beating a true and tried incumbent.

FROM OHIO.

The Campaign in Ohio and Pennsylvania—The October Elections—Greeley on the Circle.

Special correspondence Chronicle.

MASSILLON, Sept. 23, 1872.

The Republican State Committee of Ohio has not been very demonstrative in its campaign work, but it has labored effectively in a quiet way, perfecting the organization of the party. But this week and next will witness some brilliant and overwhelming demonstrations. Some of the finest orators in the country are posted for large meetings in the next twelve days. Secretary Delano, Attorney General Williams, Senator Wilson, Speaker Blaine, Gen. Logan, Ben. Butler, Gov. Fairchild and Gov. Woodford from abroad, and Garfield, Wade, Dennison, Noyes, Bingham, Hayes, Gilson and other brilliant Ohio men will waken up the old Republican spirit. There is some apathy in Republican circles growing out of the very general feeling that seems to prevail everywhere that Grant will be certainly re-elected.

Fair-minded, intelligent men, who are not partisans, almost universally concede that Greeley has not carried off more Republican votes than he has expelled Democrats, so that the election is to be a square contest between Republicanism and Democracy. The belief that Grant will be elected is so general that among betting men, large odds are given to get bets on Greeley.

GREELEY TACTICS FOR OCTOBER.

The Greeley men are making shrewd efforts for show of strength in October. They are laboring earnestly with Liberal Republicans to get them to vote the Democratic State tickets in Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania. In those elections they will poll their full vote, for disaffected Democrats will vote the State tickets who will not vote in November. If, therefore, the Liberals vote with them it really gives them a better show in October than in November. Many of the latter have become so bitter that they will vote the Democratic ticket. I am, therefore, of the opinion that the October vote will show more strength for the new coalition than the November election.

Yet there seems to be no doubt among those in position to know that the Republicans will carry the three States named by fair majorities. I saw at the Pittsburgh Convention well informed men from those States and one and all were sanguine, giving satisfactory reasons for their faith. Hartman's strength in Pennsylvania is increasing daily. His election by from five to twelve thousand majority, is confidently by Republicans and even conceded by many Democrats. Western Pennsylvania will give a large Republican majority and Hartman will poll nearly the full party vote but in Central Pennsylvania he will fall some behind. He is personally a very pleasant man. He was at Knoxville during the siege and in a conversation I had with him at Pittsburgh he inquired much about the city and some of its people. He expresses great confidence in his election and expresses the bitter opposition to him upon grounds not in any way affecting his integrity.

Indiana is unquestionably the most fiercely contested State in the Union. Morton and Foster the chairmen of the State Committee, have organized the party more thoroughly than ever before and their success seems to be as certain as anything political can be in such a State. They have the advantage now and nothing short of a "ground swell" can take it from them.

Greeley is getting desperate and is swinging about the circle to try to get up a "tidal wave." So far he has failed. His Pittsburgh speech is regarded a great blunder. It has stirred up the soldiers and disgusted many of his friends. His trip will hurt him as much as Andy's did him in 1866. His friends want to cage him but can't. He will write and talk and the fate of all stamping Presidential candidates awaits him.

A. J. R.

Rather Personal.

The Nashville Banner pays its respects to Landon C. Haynes, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Memphis District, as follows:

Colonel (?) Landon C. Haynes, who has spent the greater part of a useless life in asking for office; who helped to precipitate this State into war against the Union, for no higher purpose than office; who was proclaiming, in 1860, from the stump: "to—l with such a union;" who was one of those valiant precipitators, who believed a wine-glass would hold all the blood that would be spilled in the war, and when oceans of it were spilling, took precious good care that none of his helped to swell the incanearate current; who went to an office in the Confederate Congress while the poor lads he had seduced into rebellion went to the field and to the trenches; who in that Congress voted to remove the lamented Albert Sidney Johnson because he was unable to lead a powerful army in check without an army of his own; who passed laws of conscription to force other men into the hall of shot and shell—laws excepting the owner of fifteen slaves from military duty, but forcing the father of fifteen children into the bloody chasm of death or mutilation of limb—this virtuous patriot, who nowhere raised his voice since the war to liberalize the sections and close the bloody chasm, is now again a candidate for office—in this era of peace and reconciliation—a candidate for Congress against an able Memphis journalist, who was never in office, who was a Confederate soldier from the beginning of the war to its close, always at the front, who, since the war, has done more for the good of this section, with his pen, than Haynes ever did for it in his whole life, except to ruin it.

The Nashville Banner alludes to Gen. Quarles' position in the Johnson-Cheatham canvass as follows:

It would appear that Gen. Quarles, who is put forward as an elector for the Liberal Republican ticket of reconciliation, through some sort of influence, has been induced to abandon the contest between Greeley and Grant, to become the elector of the Congressional ring and a Congressional caucus, to crack the whip and put the spurs to all the rank and file who dare to disregard the edicts of the ring. He abandons the Greeley and Grant fight to take a hand in putting out of the way a candidate for Congress who votes for Greeley but will have to cast his vote for Quarles in order to get to Greeley.

Local Miscellany.

One of Bells omnibuses when returning from the Camp Meeting train, Sunday night, was turned over by an embankment of dirt on Crooked Street near the St. John's Church. The driver, John Coffin, (col.) had his leg broken just below the thigh. This is the third accident caused by this same pile of dirt and it is time that it was removed.

A carriage ran into a horse on Gay Street yesterday, and striking him in the flank injured him severely; the horse, however, had his revenge as he managed to get his leg mixed up with the wheel and succeeded in breaking four or five spokes and otherwise damaging it before he got loose.

The railing on Main Street bridge over first creek is off, leaving a fine opening for some one to walk into these dark nights.

One of the cars on the 10:30 train from the National Camp Grounds caught fire Sunday night but was extinguished without any serious damage being done.

The nights are cool and suggestive of frost, which accelerates the ripening of the pumpkin fruit.

There is a good tide in the river and the water is still rising, though slowly.

Cal. Julian brought down two hundred and fifty bushels of wheat yesterday.

Mrs. Shultz, an elderly lady, was pushed from the platform at the Camp Ground on Sunday afternoon and severely injured. The platform was crowded and as the train moved off those next to the cars surged backward and Mrs. S. and another person fell, she undermost. It was a fortunate circumstance that no one else was hurt.

Yesterday near the depot an intoxicated man leaped from the train while it was in motion and was slightly injured. Luckily he fell in a mud hole or he might have been seriously hurt. As it was he escaped with soiled garments.

Boarding House Life.

Oliver Wendell Holmes writes: To think of it! Not even a dog to lick his hand or a cat to purr and rub her fur against him! Oh! these boarding houses! What forlorn people one sees stranded on their desolate shores! Decayed gentle women with the poor wrecks of what once made their households beautiful, disposed around them in narrow chambers as they best may be, coming day after day, poor souls, to sit at the board with strangers; their hearts full of sad memories which have no language but a sigh, no record but the lines of sorrow on their features; orphans, creatures with growing tendrils and nothing to cling to; lonely rich men, casting about them what to do with wealth they never knew how to enjoy, when they shall no longer worry over keeping and increasing it; young men and young women, left to instincts, unguarded, unwatched, save by malicious eyes, which are sure to be found and to find occupation in the miscellaneous collection of human beings; and now then a shred of humanity like this little specialist, with just the resources needed to keep the "radical moisture" from entirely exhaling from his attenuated organism, and busying himself over a point of science, or compiling a hymn book, or editing a grammar or dictionary—such are the tenants of boarding houses whom we can not think of without feeling how sad it is when the wind is not tempered to the shorn lamb, when the solitary whose hearts are shriveling, are not in families.

THE QUESTION OF THE HOUR.—Somebody locates the following in the Granite State: A couple had quarrelled during the whole married life. At last the husband was taken ill, and evidently about to die. His wife came to his bedside, where after she had seen his condition, the following colloquy ensued:

"Why daddy, your feet are cold, and your nose is cold!"

"What! let me be cold?"

"Why, daddy, you're going to die?"

"What! I guess I know what I'm about!"

"Why, daddy, what's to become of me if you die?"

"Dunno, and don't care! What I want to know, is, what's to become of me?"

"Gracious!" "Clara Vaughan" and many other attractive books at O. B. Smith & Co's.

Drug Market.

In the drug market we notice a steady and marked advance in spirits turpentine during the past week. It is now selling at 75c per gallon with a prospect of still further advance. Linseed oil has advanced slightly, though we look for no important change from present prices, which are $1.06.10 for raw and $1.11.10 for boiled. Concentrated lye has advanced from $6.50 to $8.40 per case, owing to monopoly in manufacture. Sulphur, quinine still rules high with sales at $3.00 per lb. Gum camphor has declined to 75c per lb. Bluestone 10c. Window glass is firm at old prices with a prospect of advance.

Dry Goods.

Trade among Dry Goods and Grocery merchants has been unusually active during the past three weeks. Large shipments have been made from our leading houses to different parts in Tennessee, Georgia and North Carolina, probably the heaviest shipments that have ever been made from Knoxville. A brisk trade is anticipated for the present week, on account of the large and well assorted stocks that our merchants are presenting to the trade. As to prices the fact that our merchants are successfully competing with the Eastern markets, is good evidence that they will rule low.

"EXTERMINATE THE TRAITORS."

The people, whose Constitution and Union are at stake, will tolerate in their rulers anything necessary to preserve them. They will forgive them for doing almost any act tending to this end. But they will not excuse them for hesitation, timidity, blundering, nor, especially for doing or not doing anything through fear of hurting the feelings of traitors, or of offending their secret creditors in the North, and their open apologists in the Southern States.—Horace Greeley, Sept. 4, 1862.

"We hold traitors responsible for the work upon which they have precipitated us, and we warn them that they must abide the full penalty. * * * The rebels of that State (Virginia) and Maryland will not flatter themselves that they can enter upon a war against the Government and afterward return to quiet and peaceful homes. They choose to play the part of traitors and they must suffer the penalty. The worn out race of emasculated first families must give place to sturdier people, whose pioneers are now on their way to Washington, at this moment, in regiments. An allotment of land in Virginia would be a fitting reward to the brave fellows who have gone to fight their country's battles."—Editorial article, headed "Confession," Tribune April 22, 1861.

The Cincinnati Southern Road.

A correspondent of the Cincinnati Times and Chronicle takes the following view of the Cincinnati Southern Road.

Probably the greatest importance attaching to Chattanooga arises from the fact that your Southern road is looking hither for one of its southern termini. I say one of its southern termini, for I am satisfied that it will have more than one such and that the very necessity of the case will compel Cincinnati to seek a more direct connection with Knoxville than will be afforded by way of Chattanooga. Indeed, from such facts as I am advised of, I am inclined to think the prediction a safe one, that Cincinnati and Knoxville will be directly connected by rail sooner than this city and Cincinnati will. Perhaps in a letter from Knoxville, if get hold there of the man I hope to see, I shall be able to furnish some of these relevant facts, stated in more definite shape than I could now put them in.
